STARTING ANEW

The New Year gives us another reason to stop and look back as well to look ahead. I suppose there are a number of things we would have done differently had we the gift of foresight. But we are creatures that live in the present as a result of the past. The decisions we made yesterday greatly affect the present. The decisions we make today will greatly affect the future. So, what is the point of reliving the past and wishing you would have done things differently? Make what changes you need in your life to make the future brighter.

I have made some personal goals for 2012. My goals are not exactly goals you can measure by numbers or by certificates and awards. I am seeking a more personal relationship with my Lord, Jesus. I am also seeking to help a number of other people develop their relationship with the Lord too. After spending much of 2011 seeking and speaking with people about their personal growth, I believe I have some ways to go about helping others as well as myself.

Although spiritual growth requires time in the Word, I am not setting some arbitrary amount of time in the word as my goal. Although prayer is important, I am not setting a minimum amount of time each day to pray as my goal. Worship is necessary to grow deeper in the Lord, but I am not setting as my goal the attendance at 52 Sundays of worship as my goal.

I want to nurture the fruit of the Spirit in my heart which are love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self control. I am seeking to be filled with His Spirit and to always exhibit a Christ like attitude. Please pray along with me that I may continue to grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus.
